I'm a green sea turtle and I live in the sea

I love living in the sea. So many different colours everywhere, so many fun-looking creatures, swimming around! When I'm hungry, I dive to the bottom of a shallow area where I can find all sorts of algae and seagrass. Yummy! Once I'm full, I'll rest at the surface if I'm in deep water, or on the bottom, under rocks when I'm in shallow waters.

My hard shell protects me from most predators. Who would want to break their teeth on such a hard bowl? But sharks would not hesitate one minute. If I spot one in the distance, I swim as fast as I can, using my powerful flippers and bye-bye danger!

If I didn't have all this space to swim freely in, I would go round and round the same area and it wouldn't be as much fun. Also, I would run out of seagrass to eat and would end up starving and not reproducing.
